Automatic Receipt Generation for Amazon Business and Mastercard Customers

CHROME RIVER, AMAZON BUSINESS AND MASTERCARD INTEGRATION

Reconciling Amazon Business transactions can be challenging for many organizations due to purchases being sourced and shipped from multiple vendors. There is also often a tremendous volume of transactions to reconcile with often no visibility into what was purchased at the line item level.

Chrome River's integration with Amazon Business and Mastercard streamlines the procurement process, by automatically generating an itemized receipt that appears in your Chrome River eWallet for simple, transparent reconciliation. This collaboration significantly decreases time spent reconciling transactions against statements, and gives your organization greater visibility into your spend data.

Features

System Generated Receipt

Once purchased items from Amazon Business ship, receipts are automatically system generated and available in your Chrome River e-Wallet using Level 3 data from Mastercard.

Expense Transaction Itemization

Amazon Business includes an itemized breakdown of the purchase, simplifying the submission process.

Mastercard Integration

Our collaboration with Mastercard gives your organization greater back-office insights by providing you with enriched data for Amazon Business transactions.

Amazon Business is easy to make purchases, but if there are several items in a single transaction, creating individual expense items can be time-consuming. With Chrome River's new integration with Amazon Business, the process becomes instant and simple for our users and ensures we will never be without proper receipt documentation.

RICH PRODUCTS CORPORATION

Chrome River's integration with Amazon Business made the decision to centralize the university's spend with Amazon Business a no-brainer. Taking away the need for our users to do any manual entry saves huge amounts of time, streamlines reconciliation and guarantees data accuracy, all of which leads to significant cost savings for us.
